FEATURING GUEST SPEAKER
KATHLEEN TROIA "KT" MCFARLAND

Kathleen Troia "KT" McFarland is an experienced stateswoman, activist, and defense leader. KT McFarland was deputy assistant secretary of defense for public affairs at the Pentagon from 1982 to 1985 under President Ronald Reagan and speechwriter to Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger. She is said to be a protégée of Henry A. Kissinger. KT McFarland is a Manhattan resident and is married to Alan Roberts McFarland, an investment banker. She is the mother of five (Andrew, Gavin, Fiona, Luke and Camilla) and grandmother of three. KT's daughter, Fiona is currently attending the United States Naval Academy. KT recently ran as a Republican candidate in the 2006 New York Senate election for the seat now held by Hillary Rodham Clinton.
